MGM INDUSTRIES ROLLS OUT SWING DOOR LINE

HENDERSONVILLE, TN - MGM Industries, well known for its high quality vinyl window manufacturing, is rolling out its first vinyl swing door, the 9200 Series, this month, under the brand name of WindStrong, announced Joe Gaskins, vice president of sales.

Named WindStrong for its high impact rating, the 9200 Series is designed for new home construction with a 4 9/16" vinyl jamb, brick mould, a welded frame, internal weep holes and adjustable hinges for height and camber, enabling easy installation straight from the factory.

"The 9200 Series is a natural addition to our vinyl window production and will give our distributors another choice for their customers," explained Gaskins.

As with all MGM products, WindStrong vinyl swing doors are maintenance free and never need painting or staining inside or out. For energy savings, each door comes standard with one-inch glass and the availability of high performance low-e glass and the choice of blinds between the glasses. Customers can choose between several finishes for the complete multipoint hardware that is included. Color choices for the vinyl frame include euro-white, tan and earthtone.

Founded in 1965 in Hendersonville, Tenn., MGM Industries is still a family owned business which extrudes and assembles a wide range of custom and standard sized vinyl windows and patio doors for new home construction and replacement use.
