MGM INDUSTRIES COMPLETES TESTING FACILITY

HENDERSONVILLE, Tenn. – MGM Industries' Series 8065 double hung and 5600 double hung vinyl windows have received a DP65 rating for use in residential coastal applications. The 8065 Series also received a C65 regular commercial rating. These are the first vinyl windows to receive these ratings, announced company officials.

To receive the DP65 rating, a residential window must be able to withstand hurricane force winds of up to 195 mph, while the C65 is for commercial windows that can withstand hurricane force winds of up to 195 mph. The tests were conducted at MGM's new in-house testing facility and verified by an independent laboratory source.

"To the best of our knowledge, no other vinyl window in the industry has received either a DP65 rating or a C65 rating," stated Abe Gaskins, president of MGM.

According to Gaskins, MGM has been working to make its in-house testing facility fully operational for the last two years.

"Now that we've got the DP65 on the 8065 and 5600, we're planning to test windows to meet light commercial applications," explains Gaskins.

Founded in 1965 in Hendersonville, Tenn., MGM Industries is still a family owned business which extrudes and assembles a wide range of custom and standard sized vinyl windows and patio doors for new home construction and replacement use.
