MGM INDUSTRIES RECEIVES AWARD FROM VOL STATE

MGM Industries, a vinyl window manufacturer located in Hendersonville, Tenn., was recently inducted into Volunteer State Community College's Hal R. Ramer Society for its scholarship contributions, during the foundation's annual award banquet honoring companies and individuals for the financial support they provide to students.

Abe Gaskins, president of MGM Industries, accepted the award on behalf of the company.

"Education is extremely important to the growth of our community and the success of our company. We simply want to do what we can to help those individuals who want to improve their lives and further their education," explained Gaskins.

MGM Industries has three scholarships available to attend Volunteer State Community College – one for MGM employees and their children, another for minority students and one for students seeking a degree in engineering. In addition to the scholarship money, scholarship recipients are offered a paid internship with the company.

Founded in 1965 in Hendersonville, Tenn., MGM Industries is still a family owned business which extrudes and assembles a wide range of custom and standard sized vinyl windows and patio doors for new home construction and replacement use. For more information visit them online at www.mgmindustries.com or call 1 (800) 476-5584.

Volunteer State Community College is located in Gallatin, Tenn.
